

Senate Bill 1226 Jeopardizes Illinois Drinking Water Safety

Senate Bill 1226, currently before the House, eliminates longstanding protections that ensure the proper installation of drinking water systems. It:

- Puts the health of all Illinoisans, but especially those with compromised or underdeveloped immune systems like seniors and children, at risk by effectively de-regulating the practice of plumbing.
- Undermines the plumbing training and licensure requirements built into the Illinois Plumbing Code, administered by the state Department of Public Health, by establishing in Illinois law a new plumbing code. This new code, administered by the Capital Development Board, would not require licensed plumbing contractors, licensed plumbers or licensed apprentices.
- Applies directly to projects managed and funded by CDB grants, including newly built or renovated public schools, nursing homes and other state facilities, early childhood centers and community health centers.
- Could also extend to all commercial construction in the state, as well as construction of residential buildings of four or more stories.
- Creates a regulatory nightmare. Representatives of IDPH and CDB testified before House committee that it likely would conflict with multiple existing statutes.
- Compromises existing energy efficiency standards. The Illinois Environmental Council opposed the bill during House committee in November, in part, because it would supplant provisions of the Energy Efficient Building Act.
